Nova Scotia Country Music Hall of Fame Induction Ceremonies A Huge Success

Tables set up waiting for guests

The Nova Scotia Country Music Hall of Fame Induction Ceremonies for 2014 took place at the Best Western Plus Glengarry Hotel in Truro on September 13th.

The Board members and sound crew began arriving on Friday morning to prepare for the Gala event - tables had to be set up, sound system installed and tested to prepare for the festivities that were to happen the next day, then on Saturday, some flowers were arranged on the tables and programs placed at each of the place settings.

Tables were set up for each of the folks to be inducted and they were all busy setting up their displays of recordings, books, pictures, and even bits of stage clothes that have been part of their success over the years.

The pre-dinner music show started around 3 PM in a room separate from the main Gala room, with performances provided by some of our previously inducted members.

Around 4 PM inductees and guests were moved into the main Gala room and a beautiful roast turkey dinner with all the fixings was enjoyed soon after.

After dinner and a few introductions and speeches, the inductions began and after each person or group induction was performed, each inductee gave a short speech of thanks and a bit about their background, followed by a short performance.

Many door prizes were given away between each induction, as well as a TV, a beautiful framed picture, a collection of hand tied fishing flies and of course a scratch ticket tree.

After the ceremony was complete, everyone had a chance to meet the inductees and of course many old friends.
